

"Listen we to the voice of the corner stone: The hour is come, that the Son of man should be glorified. Did He think Himself glorified, because the Gentiles wished to see? No. But He saw that after His passion and resurrection, the Gentiles in all lands would believe on Him; and took occasion from this request of some Gentiles to see Him, to announce the approaching fulness of the Gentiles, for that the hour of His being glorified was now at hand, and that after He was glorified in the heavens, the Gentiles would believe."

MUSIC

As I look ahead to the Vigil mass, I am reminded of the most powerful reading for me from the book of GENESIS. While having a "goggle moment," I found at crosswalk.com four important reasons to nurture a deeper understanding of Genesis: 1. To understand the world's origins 2. To develop a higher view of God 3. To gain a deeper faith in God's promises 4. To build a framework for reading the rest of the Bible.

I also find a great gift in reading THE CREATION by James Weldon Johson. It is a Read Aloud book that will certainly help your children and grandchildren grasp the power of love that God has for us during Lent and always:

And God stepped out on space, And He looked around and said:

I'm lonely -I'll make me a world.

Michael
